TO CONSTRUCT 49 CULVERTS ON ROAD

WORK EXPECTED TO START IN ABOUT TWO WEEKS.

WILL BE OF CONCRETE

Grading Work for Ten Miles of Hard Surfaced Road Will Also Start in About Two Weeks.

Work of constructing the culverts for the ten miles of concrete road just south of Maryville will start in about two weeks, according to R. J. Buckley of the Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Co., who will have charge of this work.

The Atkinson Paving Co., who has the contract for the entire job, has sublet the culverting work to the company at Des Moines, Ia.

Forty-nine concrete culverts will be constructed on the ten-mile project, Mr. Buckley said. Twelve of these will be box culverts, varying in size from 3x2x-32 to 10x10x40. Thirty-seven concrete pipe culverts, averaging forty-four feet long, will be constructed, Mr. Buckley said.

It is thought that these culverts will be completed in about two months after the work is started, although this depends, of course, on the number of men employed to do the work, Mr. Buckley said, and the weather conditions as well.

According to information received today, the grading work will also start in about two or three weeks and a number of local men will be employed on this work.

The culvert construction company is at present working on the Tarkio-Rock-Port road and just as soon as this work is finished, the outfit will be moved to Maryville.

The culvert material will be unloaded at Maryville, Arkoe or Barnard, depending on the location of the crew at any particular time.

Turner Was Refused a Pool Hall License

County Court Refused to Grant One From Him at Conception Junction.

The application of Frank A. Turner for a pool hall license at Conception Junction was rejected by the county court yesterday afternoon. Turner had secured a pool hall permit from the town board of Conception Junction a week ago but after making an investigation, the town board of that town sent Gabe Purcell to appear before the county court and to request the application of Turner be turned down. It was said the town board after making an investigation was in favor of backing up on their permit but fearing it would not be legal wanted the county court to refuse it.

The county judges said this morning that since Turner had been refused a pool hall license at Maryville they could not very well issue him a permit for Conception Junction.

What steps Turner will take is not known but it was thought today he would bring mandamus proceedings against the court for the license.

The city commissioners at their regular meeting this evening will consider the application of Deb Strong for a pool hall license at the Shonley old stand on the North side of the square. If the city should grant Strong a permit, the county court will issue him a license. Strong applied for a county license yesterday and the court stated they would grant it if the city commissioners would issue a license to him. Strong will also run a barber shop in his pool hall.

Strong and Turner recently made a deal, whereby Turner took over the Strong's pool hall at Conception Junction and Strong took over the Turner pool tables here in Maryville.

COUNTY TAX LEVY RAISED 5 CENTS

LEVY FOR COUNTY PURPOSES FIXED AT 25 CENTS PER $100

INCREASE NECESSARY

Because of Lowering in Valuation—Expect $184,323.38 of Revenue to be Raised

The tax levy in Nodaway County for the year 1924, for county purposes was raised 5 cents per $100 valuation over that of the levy fixed last year, by the County Court that was in session yesterday. The County Court fixed the levy of 25 cents for county purposes and 5 cents for township tax on a hundred dollars valuation. The 5 cents county levy increase was made necessary because of the lowered valuation of the county, the total decrease of valuation of taxable property being $3,314,336, according to Fred Wright, the deputy county clerk. The state levy of 10 cents remains the same as it was last year.

The County Court estimated the running expenses of the county at $250,000 for the year. The levy as fixed yesterday will produce about the same revenue as was raised last year, for county purposes. The 25 cents levy for county purposes and the 5 cents levy for township taxes will produce $184,323.38, it is estimated. Last year $178,132.70 was raised for revenue by the levy set by the County Court.

The levies for road bonds as set for the county judges yesterday are as follow:

Grant township, 15 cents, approximate principal and interest falling due 1924, $3,550.

Hughes township, 10 cents levy; $3,310 asked for by township.

Independence township—20 cents levy; $4,975 asked for by township.

Lincoln township—5 cents levy; $2,-040 asked for by township.

Nodaway township—10 cents levy; $3,325 asked for by township.

Washington township—10 cents levy; $2,650 asked for by township.

The special road and bridge levy was fixed at 10 cents per hundred dollars valuation.

If the same levy used last year had remained it would have reduced the county tax $5,868 and the township tax would have been reduced $1,467.80.

The county funds are apportioned as follows:

Salary 2-25ths; Bridge 14-25ths; Contingent 4-25ths; Pauper 4-25ths; Jury 1-25th.

Druggist at Parnell Was Refused a Permit

The County Court Will Refuse to Grant Permit to Druggists and Doctors.

The application of Fred A. Messbarger, druggist at Parnell, for a permit under section 6590 to sell ethyl alcohol and wine was refused by the county court today. Judge E. T. Bailey, presiding judge, said that all such applications from druggists as well as from doctors for permits to prescribe alcohol, will be rejected by the county court. At present there is only one physician in the county having a permit and as soon as that permit has expired, the court will refuse to reissue it.

COUNTY HAS $66,833 UNPAID WARRANTS

LAST YEAR $4,820 WAS PAID AS INTEREST ON OUT WARRANTS

THE RECEIPTS $151,815

$60,769 Outstanding Warrants in the Bridge and Road Fund—Better Than a Year Ago

According to the annual statement of the receipts and expenditures for Nodaway County, $4,820.46 was paid out during the year ending April 30, 1924, as interest on protested warrants. The outstanding warrants in all of the county funds on May 1, this year, were $66,833.33. The money on hand in all funds was $19,105.55, but as practically all the taxes have been collected, this balance will be wiped out within the next few months and before the end of the year nearly all of the county funds will be overdrawn.

As this is election year, there will be heavy expenses for the primary in August and at the general election in November.

While the financial condition of the county is a little better than a year ago, due to the fact that the county court has made an effort to reduce the outstanding warrants in the bridge fund by refusing to repair and build a number of bridges, yet it will take several years, if at all, for the county to get enough revenues to wipe out the outstanding warrants.

The statement shows the following for the various county funds:

Salary—overdraft on May 1, 1924, $72.47; warrants issued during the year, $15,808.37; and interest paid on warrants, $181.13.

Pauper—Warrents issued since May 1, 1923, $32,212.83; outstanding warrants paid $238.55; interest paid on protested warrants, $106.30; cash on hand, May 1, 1924, $4,394.32; outstanding warrants May 1, 1924, $5,904.-10.

Contingent—Warrants issued since May 1, 1923, $25,438.73; outstanding warrants paid and over draft, $4,515.-53; interest paid protested warrants, $323.85; cash on hand May 1, 1924, $4,577.02; outstanding warrants May 1, 1924, $36.27.

Road and bridge—Warrants issued since May 1, 1923, $65,302.72; interest paid on protested warrants, $4,-208.75; outstanding warrants issued prior to May 1, 1922, paid $51,620.38; outstanding warrants paid $14,908.53; cash on hand May 1, 1924, $6,048.43; outstanding warrants on May 1, 1924, $60,769.89.

Jury fund—Warrants issued since May 1, 1923, $7,213.45; outstanding warrants paid $31; outstanding warrants paid issued prior to May 1, 1923, $41.60; interest paid on protested warrants, 43c; cash on hand May 1, 1924, $4,085.78; outstanding warrants on May 1, 1924, $50.60.

During the year ending April 30, 1924, the county collected $151,815.75.

The statement will be published in the Democrat-Forum within the next few days.

Hull Says G. O. P. Is Indifferent to Coolidge

Washington, May 6.—Chairman Hull of the Democratic National Committee, in a statement, asserted that Ohio gave President Harding a larger vote in 1920 than the total vote for Coolidge in the primaries of South Dakota, Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, North Dakota, Ohio and New Jersey.

"The inferences to be drawn from these primary returns," the statement said, "are that the great body of Republicans are indifferent or are disgusted with the record their party has made during this national administration; that they are not enamored of Mr. Coolidge, who has been a continuous part of it, and are not sufficiently interested in his candidacy to take part with the Reublican office holders and office seekers in obtaining his nomination."

Chairman Hull predicted that many of the Republicans who had thus shown their "indifference" would vote for the Democratic presidential candidate.

Road From Hopkins to Iowa Line Is Widened

Farmer Along Route Gives 100 Rods From Four to Fifteen Feet Wide, J. E. James Said Today.

The state road between Hopkins and the Iowa line has been widened to thirty feet and is now in good condition. It formerly was only about eighteen feet wide, but Mr. Ditto, owner of a farm along this road, has given a strip about 100 rods in length and from four to fifteen feet wide in order that the road might be improved, J. E. James, superintendent of maintenance in Nodaway County, said this afternoon.

Hopkins township officials furnished an engine and grader and four steel tubes to fix the road up in good shape, and the state road from Maryville north to the Iowa line is now in first class condition.

CAL. SCENE HOT PRIMARY BATTLE

G. O. P. FIGHT BETWEEN COOLIDGE AND JOHNSON

BIG VOTE PREDICTED

Republicans in Indiana Show Preference Today for Presidential and Other High Official Candidates

San Francisco, May 6.—One of the most bitterly contested Presidential primary elections in the history of California is being decided by the voters today.

On the Republican ticket, the battle is between Senator Johnson and President Coolidge.

In the Democratic primary, an uninstructed delegation is battling the regular ticket pledged to support McAdoo in the New York convention.

Registration figures indicate a great interest in the primary and a big vote was predicted, although many observers feared the hoof and mouth situation would tend to cut the vote from the rural communities.

Indianapolis, May 6.—Indiana is at the polls today to show its preference for candidates for President in the Republican party, and for governor, Congressmen and other officials in both parties.

Transcending the Republican Presidential primary in interest was the contest waged in the two parties for Governor. Eight Democrats and six Republicans sought the nomination.

Senator Samuel M. Ralston will have the Democratic allotment of national convention delegates without opposition. It is said that President Coolidge is the favorite in the Republican contest.

Washington, May 6—In the opinion of politicians, Republican primaries today in California and Indiana will be indicative of public tendencies in two important particulars. The first is whether radicalism, or the type of politics represented by Senator Hiram Johnson, as opposed to the moderate conservatism of President Coolidge, will be as strong in the native state of President Coolidge's lone opponent as in 1916 or 1920. The other is whether the power of the Ku Klux Klan be strong enough to dominate the Republican primaries in Indiana, where extraordinary efforts will be exerted by the klan to dictate the nomination for state ofifces.

As to California primaries, reports received at the Coolidge headquarters are that Senator Johnson will lose several district delegates in the lower section of the state and that his once influence in other sections of California will be reduced.

Jap Issue a Factor

The trend toward President Coolidge was so strong weeks ago in California that his managers were confident that he would almost divide the vote with Johnson. There has been a swing away from him in the last few days, due to his activity in connection with the pending immigration bill, which the Pacific Coast States had interpreted to mean that he opposed the exclusion of Japanese.

That the President's position on immigration has weakened his early prestige in California is said to be accepted by his managers, but they are hopeful that last day information sent into California, making his position in accord with the sentiment in that state and in Congress, will be effective. Even though the President should carry nearly half of the districts, he would not receive the twenty-nine delegates from the state unless he has a majority in the statewide presidential preferential vote, and this is not deemed possible by his managers.

Klan in Indiana

In Indiana there is no interest in the presidential primaries, as Senator Johnson has made no contest there and President Coolidge will capture the delegates by a decisive vote. Interest there centers on the struggle the Ku Klux Klan is making to name the Republican nominees on the state ticket and control the selection of the National Committeeman and members of the state committee. For some reason not clear, no contest is being made in the Democratic primaries.

JURY FINDS FOR BARTON FOR $1614

FULL AMOUNT OF THE SUIT IS GIVEN BY THE JURY.

THREE BALLOTS TAKEN

C. P. Dowis & Sons of Sheridan Were the Defendants—Case About Cholera Hogs.

The jury in the case of Lee Barton vs. C. P. Dowis & Sons reported at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon and found for the plaintiff and assessed his damages at $1,614.42. This was the full amount of the suit brought by Barton, who alleged damages on account of some of the hogs which he purchased from the defendants were not cholera immune as set forth and infected his other hogs.

This case went to the jury at 1:15 o'clock this afternoon. It is understood only three ballots were taken. The first ballot was reported to have been 8 for the plaintiff to 4 against. The second ballot was said to have been 9 for the plaintiff and 3 against. Another ballot was taken to see if an unanimous verdict could be secured but this ballot also resulted in 9 for the plaintiff and 3 against. As 9 jurors were all that were necessary, the jury then reported. The jurors signing the verdict were: Ray Strickler, Richard Chaney, A. A. Livengood, George Daniels, J. J. Snodderly, George P. Sillers, A. W. Hubbard, Grant Comer and A. R. Robinson. After the jury reported, they were finally discharged by the court.

The Barton-Dowis case has been on trial for four days. It was a hotly contested case and there were many witnesses.

The partition case of Roger McCoy vs. Firman B. Strickler et al, sent here on a change of venue from Atchison County, was being heard by Judge Dawson this afternoon. Judge R. E. Culver of St. Joseph and William E. Bissett of Mound City are representing the plaintiff while Frank Petree of Oregon and John C. Hunt and Hal B. Hunt of Rock Port are representing the defendants.

COOLIDGE HOSTILE TO NEW TAX BILL

STRONG INDICATIONS THAT HE WILL VETO MEASURE.

NORRIS MAKES CHARGES

Declares House Military Affairs Committee Is "Packed" for Ford's Muscle Shoals Offer.

Washington, May 6.—Strong indications that President Coolidge will veto the tax reduction bill now pending in the Senate because of the rejection of the Mellon rates, came from the White House this afternoon.

It was stated officially the President does not propose to enter into any compromise on tax reduction with opposing elements in Congress, and he believes the bill, as it now stands, is undesirable.

Among the undesirable features, the President believes the Democratic income tax schedules and the provisions for the cuts of other rates are the most outstanding.

Washington, May 6.—The Mellon plan was finally abandoned by the administration ranks in the Senate this afternoon, when Republican leaders determined to make their next stand upon a maximum surtax of 32 per cent in the new revenue bill. This decision was reached at a party conference.

Washington, May 6.—Charges that the house military affairs committee was "packed" with members favorable to Henry Ford's offer for Muscle Shoals was made today before the Senate agriculture committee.

Senator Norris, Republican of Nebraska, chairman, reading a copy of the minutes of the Tennessee River Improvement Association, in which C. H. Huston, president, was quoted as saying that Representative Martin B. Madden, Republican of Illinois, had given assurance that only members supporting the Ford bill, would be appointed to the committee holdings on Muscle Shoals. Norris also introduced a letter from an official of the Ford Motor Co. referring to W. G. Waldo, secretary of the Tennessee River Improvement Association, as "one of our technical staff."

Madden issued a formal denial of Huston's statement.

"There is not a single word of truth in the statement. I never gave anyone the authority to make that statement. Furthermore, I have no authority to make Congressional appointments."

"If the grand jury has not indicted me, it is not fair, because this is the only way the stigma attached to the publicity can be removed. I have reasons to believe I have been indicted."

HARVE ENGLAND

A TOURING STATUE

It is a good idea on the part of the new republican government in Greece to send on a tour of the United States, as a representative of Greece, the famous statue of Hermes carved more than 2,000 years ago by the great Praxiteles.

The Greece of which educated men and women think, in this modern world, is the Greece of the past rather than the present. The beautiful statue of Hermes, whom the Romans called Mercury, messenger of the gods and patron of art, science and commerce, is a more fitting representative of historic Greece than any living man could be, though it were Venizelos himself. Ancient Greece taught the world the things that Hermes stood for.

It is appropriate, too, that Hermes should come to America, which more than any other country today represents the Greece of olden days. America, as we at least like to believe, is the torch-bearer of culture and progress for the present and future.

Newspapers naturally feel a special interest in this matter for Hermes or Mercury is regarded now as particularly the patron of the press. If a divinity were really embodied in that marble, as reverent Greeks once believed, he might stand on our skyscrapers and mountain tops in wonder and admiration at the way in which men have developed his work of spreading news. He might find our newspapers, too, representative of all his other functions and activities. For the press not only carries news but promotes art, science and commerce on a scale of which the old Greeks never dreamed.

RUSHING THE LIBRARY

A middle-western library reports that in March local citizens read more library books than in any other month during the last five years. That same city has been much interested in an oratorical contest on subjects dealing with the American Constitution. The two things are obviously related.

All types of books were in general circulation, says the librarian, but histories, colonial biographies and books on constitutional law were in unprecedented demand. High school pupils, their teachers and their parents—and possibly their brothers and sisters—were keenly interested in all sorts of information concerning the causes, the framing and the working of the Constitution of the United States. Plain historical facts and figures did not satisfy them. Once started, their interest in biography and fiction and general history was stimulated. So the public flocked to the library and the librarians cheerfully handed over the books.

With the library habit once formed, that city will probably keep on making records for reading. The New York Public Library, which has announced a falling off in reading there, might take a hint and work up a little excitement over some subject of national and personal interest.

After reading the dope of political experts, a fellow feels like he might as well arrive at his political judgments by throwing dice.

S. T. C. VICTOR IN TARKIO DUAL MEET

MAKE 67½ POINTS AS AGAINST 54½ FOR TARKIO.

WIN MILE RELAY

In Record Breaking Time—Bearcats to Meet Graceland in Dual Meet Friday Afternoon.

The S. T. C. Bearcats showed a well balanced track squad yesterday afternoon when they defeated Tarkio College in a dual meet by a score of 67½ to 54½ points. This is the first dual meet the Maryville team has won in four years and goes to indicate the strength of the Bearcat squad this year. Tarkio has a team composed of veterans who won the state meet last year and holds several state records.

The feature of the meet at Tarkio yesterday was the quarter-mile run which was won by George Smith of Maryville. Cavin of Tarkio, who holds the state college record in this event, ran neck and neck with Smith and finished a scant yard behind. The time for the race was 53 seconds.

A stiff wind was blowing across the track which slowed down the time of some of the events.

Tarkio and Maryville split the relay events. The Maryville team led the half mile race until the last 100-yard run but Robey of Maryville trailed Cavin by a stride at the finish. The Bearcats walked away from their rivals in the mile relay and won in the record breaking time of 3 minutes, 35 seconds. The old record will still stand as the time has to be made in the conference meet.

Wakely showed unexpected form in the pole vault and cleared the bar at 11 feet for first place on the first trial. Wakely did not try the bar any higher as he had already won the event.

Maryville had its own way in the hurdle events. In the 120-yard high hurdles Tarkio withdrew their entries. Smith and Proffit of Maryville were given credit for winning the event. Nicholas and Ellis of Maryville romped in with a big lead in the low hurdles. Joy and Culp of Maryville won first and second in the javelin throw with a distance of 159 feet. This is within a foot of the state record.

Davenport lead the field in the half mile run and finished with a good sized lead with the time at 2 minutes, 5 seconds. Peoples of Maryville took first in the broad jump and Joy annexed a first in the shot put in the other field events.

Maryville will meet the Graceland team in a dual meet here Friday afternoon. Next week the Bearcats will go to the state meet at Springfield.

The summary of the meet:

Mike McDonnell who is a one armed player and Dave Baker were pitted against F. C. Andrews and F. A. Turner; McDonnell shooting 108, which was low in this match; Baker 113; Andrews 113 and Turner 112.

(Clarinda Herald)

The Clarinda team of six players lost their first match of the I-M Golf Association tournament last Sunday at Red Oak, the latter taking all three points of the low total, par and bogeys. The Clarinda players were composed of C. E. Meyer, Hal Gilmore, Robt. Hawley, Ira Davis, Dr. C. B. Elker and Leslie Finley.

A feed was served by the Red Oak men following, and the Clarinda players say they had a very enjoyable time.

C. E. Meyer has been elected as captain of the Clarinda team, whose personnel will be chosen in different ways during the summer. Villisca comes here for the second of the series next Sunday.

High School Freshmen Beat Combination Team

The freshmen of the Maryville High School defeated a combination team of the two eighth grades on the high school diamond yesterday afternoon. The final count was 15 to 13. Halbert Catterson and Lawrence Kissinger of the freshman team clouted out homeruns. In the last inning, Kissinger knocked his homer while the bases were loaded. Up to this period, the eighth graders were ahead.

The True Story of Woodrow Wilson

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

CHAPTER XIII.

Mr. Wilson's Singular Notions About Party Platforms and Campaigns.

Woodrow Wilson did not feel bound by party platforms in the making of which he had had no part. Certain principles of policy appealed to him as worthy of emphasis, but knowing the hasty manner in which platforms were drafted and perfunctorily adopted he construed each document to be really a series of suggestions and not a program of action. In his formal speech accepting the nomination in 1912, he revealed that interpretation but its true significance did not become apparent until Mr. Wilson as President developed his legislative programs. He wrote practically all of the 1916 platform himself and felt privileged to do so as leader of the Democratic party.

Two planks on the 1912 platform Mr. Wilson never mentioned during that campaign. One was that which pledged the party to a constitutional amendment restricting a President of the United States to a single term and the other that which upheld the action of the Democrats in enacting a law exempting American vessels from payment of Panama Canal tolls. Mr. Wilson believed that the discussion of the one term plank was none of his affair because if the party chose it could repeal that plank in a subsequent convention—it was only binding upon party in convention assembled and not upon individuals who inevitably would be compelled to accept the party's decision. The Democratic party—not Woodrow Wilson—reversed itself in 1916 by nominating for a second term the man who in the judgment of the delegates had made a worthy record in a single term. Similarly Mr. Wilson held that the 1912 plank relating to Panama Canal tolls was merely an off-hand endorsement of the action of the Democrats in Congress and that if the Democrats on Capitol Hill in their wisdom, chose to reverse themselves, the party would be compelled to approve that reversal.

Throughout the campaign Mr. Wilson felt a certain admiration for many of the planks in the Bull Moose platform. After he was elected he did not fail to seek the support of many of those who had voted the Bull Moose ticket by striving to meet the wishes of the progressive leaders, men and women, who had supported the third party.

Mr. Wilson's praise for the third party platform was ungrudging. The author and several other newspaper men were seated with Governor Wilson on a train going to New York two days before the election in 1912 when someone in the group realizing that no one of us could be home on Election Day raised the indiscreet question of how each one of us would vote if he had the opportunity. Fortunately another wisely suggested that the vote be taken on the question of platforms rather than individuals and when the auther stated that he would vote neither the Republican nor the Democratic ticket in 1912, but the Bull Moose ticket because of its platform. Mr. Wilson with a twinkle in his eye, admitted there was a great deal to be said in favor of that view-point.

Running throughout Mr. Wilson's political career is a streak of independence which did not bind him to the Democratic party as a lifelong proposition. It is not difficult to conceive of him as the candidate of some party other than the Democratic. He sensed the division of groups in American politics along the lines of conservatives and radicals, reactionaries and progressives, standpatters and liberals.

Parties, in Mr. Wilson's judgment depended entirely for their appeal on the leadership given them. Just as many sincere Republicans finally became persuaded that they could accomplish more inside of the Republican party toward making it progressive than outside, so did Mr. Wilson become convinced that he could rid the Democratic party of some of its bossism and old fashioned conservatism and make it the instrumentality of progressivism and liberalism.

Although Mr. Wilson was an excellent speaker, eloquent and ingenious in his ability to make impromtu addresses, he really did not enjoy stump speaking or back-platform talks. His audiences were never aware of that fact. Every outdoor meeting was an ordeal for him. Nor did he like to prepare speeches in advance, preferring to map out addresses with a few notes ahead of time and trusting to his power of concentration in developing a theme in original fashion as he spoke. This meant that his best speeches were made when he had an attentive audience or when he spoke in a small hall where quiet could be assured. The speeches sounded well and read well. He never edited them after delivery. Newspaper men who traveled with him were impressed again and again by his versatility in handling from day to day the same topic in a different way. If his speeches were to be examined and compared it would be found that while he employed the same argument he never used the same phraseology. Reporters never knew what he was going to say—they found themselves listening always for the unexpected.

Sometimes the reporters used to feel that he was conscious of their presence and that he felt the necessity of making every speech different so that he would not seem to them to be repeating. Each campaign held the interest of those who were reporting it and in this respect Mr. Wilson's publicity sense, which was none too good as a whole, was especially effective.

Election night, 1912, was about as uninteresting and undramatic an occasion as it was important to the man who was the chief figure in it. Possibly it was that Mr. Wilson felt confident of the result and possibly it was Mr. Wilson's characteristic ability to disguise his true feelings. But were it not for the student body of Princeton University who came marching down to the little cottage on Cleveland Lane, a stone's throw from the house where Grover Cleveland lived and died, the incident might have passed into history without even a cheer of enthusiasm or a note of exultation of any kind.

To the modest little cottage on Cleveland Lane, came the torch-light procession, with fife and drum, singing, yelling, and giving to the whole atmosphere more of the appearance of an athletic victory than a political celebration. Students in Princeton will parade anyhow on the slightest provocation and the fact that a graduate had been elected President of the United States gave them a thrilling excuse.

Down the same streets students had tripped in the days when General Washington received the thanks of the Continental Congress meeting at Nassau Hall after the Revolution. It was in the same enviroment that James Madison, another President of the United States, had lived. More recently—only five years before election night 1912—the students had marched to the home of Grover Cleveland to greet him on the occasion of his seventieth birthday. The last President of the United States elected on the Democratic ticket and the first Democrat to be elected since then—both had been a vital part of Princeton.

Only a few persons were admitted to the Wilson cottage, mostly newspaper men who had accompanied the Governor during his presidential campaign. Except for the ticking of a telegraph instrument in the library one would have believed it was a social evening in the Wilson home.

Serenaded by the students Woodrow Wilson made his first speech that night as the elected chief executive of the American people. It was an impromptu address but it paralleled strangely the words of his second inauguration address more than four years later. He said then in 1912 what he said in 1916—he did not feel the thrill of triumph but a sense only of solemn responsibility.

Day by day we had our conferences with the President elect. His answers to our questions were general—he was feeling his way. His first impulse was to get away from it all and think alone. This tendency, not unlike that of the artist who seeks solitude or the literary genius who locks himself alone in his study for uninterrupted thought, was noticeable on later occasions when Mr. Wilson was face to face with a crisis. When the Lusitania was sunk, he shut himself off immediately from the hue and cry of war and detached himself from the fighting passion in the very atmosphere. Alone on the front seat of his automobile into the woods he fled to get a proper perspective on what had occurred.

Off to Bermuda presumably on a vacation went the President elect as soon as elected, but the real purpose of the journey was to find a quiet place in which to think out a course of action. On the steamer enroute to Bermuda and in the life of the Wilson household during the month's sojourn in the beautiful Paget section of Bermuda the Wilsons revealed themselves as truly democratic. They were innocently unaware of the burdens of officialdom.

All the correspondents who made the daily trip to the Wilson home found a delightful family circle—in fact one of the embarrassments from the newspaper man's view-point was the fact that Mr. Wilson accepted the correspondents as social visitors then rather than as business callers. Many a visit which was begun with the avowed object of getting news from the President-elect turned out in vain because the charm and attractiveness of the drawing room where Mr. Wilson, his wife and daughters participated in a discussion of everything except news. This effectively prevented the scribes from conducting their usual cross-examination.

There is no doubt that Mrs. Wilson won the friendship of every one of the correspondents. On more than one occasion she smoothed out a difference between the newspaper men and her husband. She was their friend throughout and sympathized with them in the embarrassing duty of pursuing a President elect while he was trying to get a needed rest.

(Tomorrow's chapter tells why Mr. Wilson chose Bryan as Secretary of State—The beginnings of currency legislation).

Wise Cracks

As a general thing when a woman marries a man to reform him she recommends her ability too highly.—Dallas News.

The Wichita Beacon thinks the London dancing master who said that jazz was just about gone was a bit optimistic.

May be he meant it has just about gone far enough.—International News Service.

He is a born diplomat who can appear interested in other people's troubles.—Atchison, Kan., Globe.

Charity begins at home and often stays there, adds the Wichita Beacon.

Fashionable notice from the Dallas News: No lady should wearing a light veil, chew gum.

Those slight siesmic disturbances that have been noted here and there are probably Jesse James, Captain Kidd and others of that class long since gone, turning over in their graves at once because they were here at the wrong time.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

CATTLE STEADY; LAMBS HIGHER, HOGS LOWER

Kansas City Stock Yards, May 5—The cattle market though higher than a week ago showed no quotable price changes compared with late last week. Trade was active with demand showing fully normal volume for this season of the year. Following the sharp advance in prices late last week the hog market today eased off a dime but remained above the average price level of a week ago. Sheep and lambs were 15 to 25 cents higher. Wool lambs sold up to $16.90, a new high price for the year.

Today's Receipts

Receipts today were 14,000 cattle, 14,000 hogs, and 4,000 sheep, compared with 16,000 cattle, 16,000 hogs, and 15,000 sheep a week ago, and 10,850 cattle, 28,550 hogs, and 3,600 sheep a year ago.

Beef Cattle

Trade in fat cattle opened early with prices fully steady with last week's close and 20 to 35 cents above the low point Tuesday. No prime steers arrived and good to choice classes sold at $10 to $11.20. Plain to fair kinds at $8.25 to $9.75 were fairly plentiful. About 100 carloads of South Texas grass cattle sold at $5.50 to $7.85. Indications are that only moderate receipts will prevail the rest of this week. Cows and heifers, yearlings and steers and heifers mixed were fully steady. Though veal calves were not quotably higher, trade was active at strong prices.

Stockers and Feeders

Plain to fair quality thin cattle were offered in the stocker and feeder division at steady prices, and the few good to choice kinds available brought strong prices. Feeders continue to take fleshy steers for a short feed lot finish. Most of the thin cattle are going out for summer grazing.

Hogs

Hog prices were 5 to 10 cents under Saturday, the high point last week and 10 cents above the low point Wednesday. Trade was active as soon as the decline was established. The top price was $7.20, and practically all the good hogs weighing above 180 pounds sold at $7 up. Some plain lights, 140 to 160 pounds, brought $6.40 to $6.65. Packing sows sold at $6.50 to $6.60, and pigs $5.25 to $6. Eastern markets were quoted lower, but receipts at no points were heavy except in Chicago.

Sheep and Lambs

Urgent demand prevailed in the sheep division at 15 to 25 cents higher prices. Wooled lambs sold up to $16.90, a new top for the year. Clipped lambs sold at $14.25 to $14.50, spring lambs $16.75 to $17.25, and clipped Texas wethers up to $8.60. The latter class was $1 higher than a week ago.

Horses and Mules

Because of the light receipts trade in horses and mules was limited. Prices remained firm and there was an active demand.

4A Grade Has Picnic Thursday Afternoon

The following account of the picnic of the 4A grade last Thursday afternoon was written by Kenneth Hantze, one of the students in this grade.

"The 4A grade of the Washington school had a picnic. We started from the school at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Mr. Stephenson took us out on a hay rack. Some of us boys got off the hay rack and walked. We beat the ones that rode. When we got there, the boys played baseball, climbed trees, played football and ran races. The girls jumped ropes and climbed trees. After we played awhile, we roasted some wieners and marshmallows. After supper, we played football again. Then it was time for us to go. Mr. Godsey came out after Edward and most of the boys rode to town with them. Everyone had a good time and will be happy to go again."

Among out-of-town visitors in Maryville yesterday were W. A. Ryan, Clearmont; Floyd Boggs, Blanchard; Mrs. E. A. James and son, Braddyville, Ia.; and Byrl Harris, Parnell.

THE RULES OF THE GAME.

When a man starts to play golf, he is eager to read books written by stars on how to play the game.

Hints, rules, tips—he is after the tricks of the trade.

But the art of buying is as strenuous and exciting as golf. One is driving for distance; the other driving for dollars.

In both instances, most of us drive often into the rough by unscientific methods. Our percentage of our pocketbook is the sufferer.

The best tips for the game of buying are always found in Democrat-Forum Want Ads.

50 ARE ENROLLED IN CORN PROJECT

FARMERS ARE TAKING LIVELY INTEREST IN PROPOSITION

150 DEEMED NECESSARY

To Make the Corn Show a Success—Many More Are Expected to Enroll Before July 1

More than fifty farmers of Nodaway County have already enrolled in the Corn Improvement Project that is being sponsored by the Nodaway County Farm Bureau, according to R. A. Kinnaird, county agent, this morning. Mr. Kinnaird said this morning that the farmers in this county have never shown more interest in a corn show before the Farm Bureau proposition offered to them is much more attractive and it is a more worthwhile thing to them than the ordinary corn show.

Besides those already enrolled in this movement there are many more who have made inquiry as to the rules that govern the Better Corn Improvement Project and the corn show that will be held in the winter, and many of the farmers of the county have asked for literature.

Mr. Kinnaird said that a good many more farmers are expected to enroll in the project. At least 150 farmers are necessary to make the corn show a success and July 1, is the last date for entries.

The Farm Bureau office has sent out entry blanks and a large number of farmers enrolled from this source but there are also others who have come into the Farm Bureau office and who Mr. Kinnaird has seen personally on the farms that have consented to join the project.

Those entering the project agree to comply with the rules governing the project and to enter for exhibit at the corn show, to be held some time in December, two bushels of seventy ears each, of pure, selected seed corn, which shall become the property of the show upon entry and will be sold at auction after the show.

The farmers that are enrolled in the corn improvement project and who will plant five-acre plots this year are:

W. P. Wallace, J. A. Rogers, Glen Gates, Eldon Milbank, J. E. Beam, O. O. Gregory, Stanford Pence, H. E. Bancroft, Everett Gray, Sam Ripley, and J. A. Gragg, all of Clearmont.

Biff—What is meant by a close corporation?

THE OPTIMISM OF STEEL

It is good business weather news when the "Steel Trust," regarded as the most dependable barometer of trade, pays once more a quarterly common stock dividened of 7 per cent a year. That is a very good income on stock which originally cost nothing, representing merely the capitalization of a big idea.

It is good news, too, that the big corporation, in justification of this dividend, has reported $50,000,000 profits for the first three months of the year, which is more than it ever made before in one quarter except during the war.

Business has fallen off a little lately, Chairman Gary admits, but he is not worrying. There are still large orders on the books, and he expects any temporary dullness to be made up in the fall. Business will be better "around election time," he says, than it is now. Another significant sign of confidence—his company is continuing to spend about $7,000,000 a month on extension and improvements, in order to handle future business more effectively.

Farm Bureau Endorses McNary-Haugen Bill

Gray Silver, the Washington Correspondent for the American Farm Bureau Federation, has notified all the county Farm bureaus in the Nation that the McNary-Haugen bill will come up for final consideration in the House within the next few days.

Mr. Silver has asked all the officers of the Farm Bureaus of the country to send their endorsement of the bill and ask their Congressman to support it. The officers of the Nodaway County Farm will send in its endorsement immediately.

It doesn't look now as if Henry Ford will get Muscle Shoals out of the Senate by Christmas.

Mrs. Ida Spicer

"Several years ago the doctors said they could do nothing for me. I had been sick a long time. Finally someone recommended Dr. Pierce's medicines. So I started taking the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Favorite Prescription' and improved in a very short time. Now to make a long story short, these medicines cured me sound and well, and I still enjoy good health. I never lose an opportunity to speak a good word for Dr. Pierce's wonderful remedies to those who need building up."—Mrs Ida Spicer, 506 East 9th St., Joplin, Mo.

NURSE PUTS KARNAK TO RIGID TEST IN OWN CASE

The testimony of Mrs. Edna Eve, 507 Jefferson St., Topeka, Kan., regarding Karnak is made doubly impressive by the fact that Mrs. Eve's experience as a trained nurse especially qualifies her to pass judgment on the celebrated new medicine.

"My experience with Karnak has impressed me so remarkably that I have recommended it to scores of my friends," declares Mrs. Eve. "After I had been nursing a severe case, recently, my nerves just seemed to go all to pieces, and I was in bed for four weeks from a nervous breakdown. My appetite disappeared completely, I lost weight, and simply felt miserable.

"Well, this Karnak has given me an excellent appetite and put my nerves in splendid condition. I have gained in weight, feel fine in every way now, and have had many of my friends congratulate me on my wonderful recovery. Karnak is just grand."

This spontaneous indorsement from a trained nurse typifies the wonderful good Karnak is doing everywhere.

Karnak is sold in Maryville exclusively by Maryville Drug Co.,—Adv.

Pimples

BLOOD impurities are pumped by the heart into the face. The foundation for a beautiful skin simply is not there, and no face treatment can give it to you. But increase your red-blood-cells,—and quickly the ruby tint of purity begins to glow in the cheeks, the complexion becomes venus-like and immaculate! Try it. It will do it every time. S. S. What is a Balloon tire?

Firestone Balloon Gum-Dipped Cords are not only larger than regular tires—having TWICE the usual air volume and operating on HALF the usual air pressure—but they are of exclusive construction.

The flexible carcass is successful because the special Firestone process of Gum-Dipping permits the thin sidewall to flex and absorb the shocks of the road without breaking down its structure.

Every car owner has seen tires go to pieces in a short while because of the effects of tread separation and sidewall failure due to running the tire while underinflated.

Firestone Balloon Gum-Dipped Cords are especially built for low air-pressure. Each fibre of cord in the carcass is thoroughly saturated and insulated with pure, live rubber. In action the tire folds and bends, yielding to the inequalities of the road without strain or deteriorating effect. The result is a cushion of air for each wheel that affords a revelation in comfort, safety and economy.

No merely over-sized, underinflated tire will afford comfort, safety and car conservation equal to the Balloon Gum-Dipped Cord. We know of no other tire built with the gum-dipping process. That is why you see Firestone Balloon Gum-Dipped Cords accepted by leading car manufacturers as equipment for their new 1924 models.

Firestone pioneered the Balloon Tire, testing it for over two million miles before offering it for sale.

We are prepared to tell you ALL about Balloon Gum-Dipped Cords. We can tell you and show you what they are, how to secure them for your car without risk of annoyance, extravagance or mechanical difficulties. Our men are prepared to take care of change overs—AND WE HAVE THE TIRES. Come in and see us now.
